

MEETING THE PROJECT MANAGEMENT CHALLENGE

2004

Biography

George W. Morrow

Deputy Director of Flight Programs and Projects Directorate
NASA GSFC

George Morrow is the Deputy Director of Flight Programs and Projects at NASA/Goddard Space Flight Center. Mr. Morrow joined the Goddard Power Systems Branch in 1983 and supported flight programs in power system component and systems engineering until 1988. From 1988 until 1998, he held positions of increasing responsibility on the Hubble Space Telescope Program including Deputy Project Manager for HST Development and Deputy Program Manager for HST. From 1998 until 2001, Mr. Morrow was the EOS Aqua Project Manager. From 2001 until 2003, he was Vice President and Division Manager of the Aerospace Engineering Division at Jackson and Tull. Mr. Morrow has a bachelor's degree in Chemical engineering from the University of Virginia and a Masters Degree in Engineering Administration from George Washington University.

NASA Project Management Conference